

PUBLIC LEDGER

SEVENTH YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1898.

ONE CENT.

WEATHER WISE.

What May Be Expected Here During the Next Thirty-Six Hours.

THE LEDGER CODE.

White streamer—FAIR;
Blue—RAIN or SNOW;
Black ABOVE—WILL WARMER grow.
Black BELOW—COLDER will be;
If Black's not shown no change we'll see.
The above forecast is made for a period of thirty-six hours, ending at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening.

All matter for publication must be handed in before 9 o'clock in the morning of each day.

If you have an item of news, please call up THE LEDGER, Telephone 33, and send it in.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop us a note to that effect.

Mr. A. H. Lamb left yesterday to accept a position at Covington.

Mrs. A. R. Burgess is home from a visit to relatives at Lexington.

Mr. W. L. Yellman returned yesterday afternoon to Lexington.

Mr. J. E. Hunter of Millersburg was a pleasant caller on THE LEDGER yesterday.

Mr. Fred Power is up from Covington, visiting his mother, Mrs. Martha Power.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Conwell of Uniontown, Pa., are guests of Mr. A. J. McDougle and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mannen and little daughter have returned to their home at Minneapolis.

Mrs. Myron Park Davis and son of Meadville, Pa., are guests of her brother, Mr. E. H. Nesbitt of Forest avenue.

Colonel Lee B. Gray was expected at the concert last evening; but he had a musical soiree all of his own.

A third street groceryman has gone into the tailoring business, judging from a sign in his front window, "Chickens dressed to order."

The ladies of the Washington Presbyterian Church will give an oyster supper at the school house Friday evening, October 28. Admission 25 cents. All are cordially invited.

Miss Gertrude Harbeson of Augusta, a sister of Mrs. J. W. Fitzgerald of this city, has accepted the position of instructor in music at the H. W. Miller School in Cincinnati, one of the leading educational institutions of the Queen City.

WALDO W. HAMILTON.

Another Well Known Citizen Passes Away After a Fortnight's Illness.

Mr. Waldo Waddell Hamilton died last night at 9:40 at his home at 303 Commerce street after a fortnight's illness, aged 30.

Though his health had been bad for several months, a complication of diseases finally set in and death came to relieve him at the hour named.

Mr. Hamilton was born at Gallipolis, O., and was a young man with a physique handsome and strong. His pleasant ways and sunny nature drew to him a great many friends and now when life is sweetest he must go to the Bar of God, from whence no reversal comes.

No arrangements have been made for the burial, as a sister lives in Texas from whom they have not heard.

Besides her a father, mother, wife and two sisters are shrouded in gloom because of his untimely death.

Mrs. Ella Hutchins has filed suit for divorce from Morris Hutchins. They were married by Massie Beasley in May, 1891.

Suit has been filed in the Circuit Court by Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Dimmitt and Dr. Hal Dimmitt of Germantown to break the will of the late Mrs. A. H. Wall.

WAS A CLOSE CALL.

Congressman Pugh Has an Experience in the Mountains of Rowan County.

A special from Vanceburg says Congressman Pugh came within an ace of losing his life in a runaway accident Saturday night.

He was on his way from Morehead to Solder, Carter county, to fill an engagement to speak, and was overtaken by the intense darkness that prevailed in that locality that night when his horse, because scared and ran off, demolishing the vehicle and dragging Mr. Pugh quite a distance over the rough mountain sides.

He probably would have been killed had not his companion, Hayden Smith, who escaped, come to his assistance.

He found Mr. Pugh and the horse entangled in a wreck. The horse was kicking at Mr. Pugh, only missing his head an inch or so every time he kicked.

Mr. Pugh was only slightly injured. He arrived at Solder in time to address an enthusiastic crowd of Republicans who had gathered there.

THE FIRE FIEND.

Manchester Suffers the Heaviest Loss in Its History—No Engines.

Manchester was visited Sunday by the most disastrous fire in its history.

The grocery and feed store of C. R. Lawwill and the meat market of O. C. Bradford were entirely destroyed.

The carriage works of S. P. Tucker & Co. and the residence of J. P. Handley, although damaged, were saved by heroic work.

Lawwill was insured for $1,500 and Bradford for a small amount.

The town is without adequate means of fighting fire.

The following is a list of the losses: C. R. Lawwill, grocery and feed store, $2,500.

O. C. Bradford, meat market, $300.

S. P. Tucker & Co., carriages, $500.

James Case, building, $1,000.

The latter is a total loss.

The third story of the Tucker Building was occupied jointly by the I. O. O. F. and Improved Order of Redmen, whose loss will reach $100.

CONCERT LAST EVENING.

First of a Series at the Christian Church a Most Successful One.

To Rev. Howard T. Cree, the popular, progressive and pleasant Pastor of the Christian Church, belongs the credit for introducing into our local Christian circles an innovation.

The public concert last night in the auditorium of that Church was a triumph from start to finish. Of course it is easy to accomplish anything when genius, willingness and ability quickly respond to the call for help.

A great crowd listened with charmed ears to the pleasures of the evening, and those who are not sufficiently imbued with the idea of how much good can be accomplished in the cause of Christ should have the light of a new faith fall upon them. Any opposition to any good thing is wrong in God's sight.

The program, which is given below, was replete with well-selected songs, recitations and musical excerpts, and in conclusion most generous applause and congratulatory words were showered upon Miss Berry, the genius who executed upon the instruments, both vocal and string, which, under her skillful touch and direction, made up an evening of genuine joy to which the public will cling for happiness until another calls them forth.

Following is the program:
Overture—Orchestra.
Piano Duet—Valse—Misses Hutchins and Berry.

Piano Solo—National Airs—Mrs. Dr. White.
Song—"Will You Love Me, Sweetheart, When You're Old"—Mr. T. Reed Chunn.
Recitation—"The Red Fan"—Miss Clinkinbeard.
Violin Solo—"Spring's Awakening"—Miss Rogers.
Song—"I Cannot Help Loving Thee"—Miss Hays.
Selection—Orchestra.

Bulk Oysters—G. H. Heiser.

Wanted Daily.
One hundred large young Turkeys at Maysville Produce Co.

POST NO BILLS!

The value of advertising is exclusively in its effectiveness. Have something to sell, and then tell the readers of THE LEDGER about it in such a way as to attract attention. You read this because it has "caught your eye." Thousands of others will do the same; and if your advertisement were here they would read it, too.

The remains of Mrs. Annie Byrne, after funeral services at St. Patrick's Church, were yesterday morning interred at Washington.

Mrs. Byrne resided on East Front street, and died Sunday morning, aged 80.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any Salve in the world. This fact and its merit has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure. Henry W. Ray, adjoining Postoffice.

WARNING!

You Cannot Vote If You Do Not Register.

Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday those who were absent from the city on registration day, those who were sick and unable to register, and those who were detained at home by sickness of members of their families, are entitled to register at the County Clerk's office on making affidavit to either of the foregoing facts.

NOVEL WAGON.

Something Entirely New in Maysville, Owned by Col. William Hakes.

La Belle Maysville will appear upon our streets tomorrow, and thereafter continue to be wooed by all the citizens. She will be one beauty to arouse no jealous act nor thought, for her uses and destiny are to feed the hungry, dispense delightful aromas upon the chilly air and to assist in the maintenance of those who come her way.

Colonel William Hakes, who has been a familiar figure on the Postoffice corner for several months, will move up a few feet and on several corners hereafter, for with tomorrow's sun he will find himself ensconced in a brand new la carte hotel on wheels.

Messrs. Dietrich & Son have been for two months working on this vehicle, which is now finished and ready for business. THE LEDGER, always up to snuff, gives its readers a pinch. The body of the wagon sits upon a low-wheeled running gear arranged for one horse. The bed is 9 feet long, 4 feet wide and 5 1/2 high; the waistcoasting reaches 2 feet up on all sides, the balance being glass windows which can fall or rise at will. The door is on the side, center, and is 24 inches from the ground, a substantial step breaking the distance so that purchasers can quickly gain entrance or exit as the case may require. Inside is found everything necessary with which to prepare the delicacies which Colonel Hakes so temptingly offers—a popcorn fritter maker, a hot water boiler and heater and a frying flame for oysters and waffles. Then there are pans, buckets, cleaning utensils, gas jets and gasoline tanks, with stool and easy chair for the tired frame when exhausted through overwork.

Highly polished and beautifully ornamented, it is indeed an ornament to our streets and a thing of which maker and owner may well be proud. We welcome the new industry, and we predict for its owner a big increase in business among us.

THEIR HOME TOWN

Louisville Merchants Will Protect Their Interests.

POINTERS FOR OLD MAYSVILLE.

THE LEDGER has always been, is now, and hopes ever to be, in favor of "Protection to Home Industries," whether "home" is circumscribed by the corporate limits of the city of Maysville, the boundaries of the state of Kentucky, or the "Chinese Wall" represented in the Custom-houses on the seaboard of the Nation.

It is pleased, therefore, at the action of the Louisville Commercial Club, backed by the merchants of that city and the city authorities, who have begun warfare on the itinerant merchants who have been visiting Louisville for years and taking business away from the local merchants.

They pay no license and have made such serious inroads on the local merchants' business that action has become necessary.

The Courier-Journal says their method of doing business is very appealing. Firms in all the large cities send out elegantly colored or engraved cards to the women of the city notifying them that their representatives will be in Louisville at a certain hotel on a certain date. The cards would be a credit to a swell function, and the only allusion to the business represented is found at the bottom of the card, where are the words, "Artistic needlework," "Exclusive designs in fur garments," "Latest Paris millinery importations," and so on.

These merchants have been coming to Louisville for years, and in the past two or three years they have come in such large numbers as to make themselves felt by the local merchants. They take two or three of the largest and most elegant rooms at the swell hotels and their rooms are visited and their stocks inspected by large numbers of ladies who have been previously notified of their coming. They carry only one design of each garment, or hat, or piece of needlework, and basing their charges on either their reputations, or alleged reputations, put the price very high. Purchasers have often found that the same class of goods could be purchased of Louisville merchants at from 15 to 50 per cent. less. Those who have made purchases have also realized later that the traveling merchant cannot carry as large a stock as the local merchant, nor can the purchaser have such a range of choices. In spite of these discoveries the itinerants have continued to visit Louisville and have found plenty of purchasers.

It was learned these traveling merchants come to Louisville and do business in opposition to the local merchants without paying a license, their only expense being for the hotel accommodations. The merchants of Louisville feel that since they not only pay taxes, but also license, and do much to build up the city, they should have some protection.

Last December an ordinance was passed fixing a license of $20 for itinerant merchants who wished to do business in the city. The ordinance has been in effect for a year, but has never been enforced.

This fall the number of itinerants has grown so the merchants called the attention of the Commercial Club to the conditions. President Bacon of the Commercial Club at once made investigations and found that such an ordinance existed. He understands that Judge Thompson has declared the ordinance valid, according to his belief, and stands ready to enforce it. He saw Secretary Terry of the Sinking Fund and called his attention to the ordinance. Mr. Terry said he would do all in his power to enforce it, and will have inspectors ready whenever the itinerants come to the city.

Mr. Bacon secured a list of those itinerants who are expected there and sent warning telegrams similar to the following:
By recent city ordinance, your representative due here the inst., will be required to pay $20 license fee, which we will require COMMERCIAL CLUB.
R. H. BACON, President.

Mr. Bacon said that any refusal to pay the license would result in suits, which, if necessary, will be carried to the highest courts. Both the Club and the merchants are thoroughly aroused, and funds have been raised to meet all expenses necessary to protect the interests of Louisville's merchants.

HECHINGER & CO LEADERS IN FINE CLOTHING AND SHOES

BEDDING BLANKETS.

The two numbers advertised today are commercially called California Wool. They really are two-thirds wool and one-third cotton. The cotton prevents shrinkage and promotes wear. These California Wool Blankets render especially good service. They are silk bound, 72x84 inches, and have colored borders. Sell for $3 a pair or in heavier weight $3 50. Both styles are selling freely.

BEDSPREADS.

Bright, crisp freshness for the bedroom that is delightful to careful housekeepers. These we tell of are really hemmed and prices are this way: At 75c. each—Crocket, Martellie patterns, full double bed size. At $1 each—Splendid weight, very handsome. Unusually large size in satin finish.

COMFORTS

For frosty nights. Imitation flowered cretonne and reversible plain side $1. Figured silkette tops, solid silkette underside, very handsome, $2 50. Log Cabin Prints for making comforts 7 1/2 c. a yard. Something new.
